

For my last vacation I went to Yosemite in California. I got there by driving in a motor home with my grandparents. It was fun. We had thanksgiving dinner up there with a few friends. We went on long drives and went to a lot of museums. I learned a lot. We got rocks from a gift shop and some books very exciting . We brought our dog piper because at the time she was just a puppy. Now she is a huge brat. Well when I was up there that's when I got interested in photography. My grandpa thought me everything I know about it.

In California there were a lot of gangs. That's why we moved here to Nebraska. We moved to Nebraska because it was a lot safer than living in California my grandpa thought so.
