

On my last vacation we went to Ft. Worth, Arlington, and Dallas Texas. It was awesome. We also got to see family.

In Ft. Worth we went to a NASCAR raceway and a MLB baseball game. We saw the Texas Rangers play the Seattle Mariners. We sat right behind First Base because I play First Base and my dad thought it'd be a good idea to see how the Major League guys play. I think it helped a lot.

In Arlington we went to Six Flags Over Arlington. My favorite ride was The Tornado, you go up 200 feet, pretty much drop straight down into the underground and then go back up to about 150 feet and then do a spiral down to the ground and go back up and do another freefall. My second favorite I don't remember the name of, but you hang from a harness thing and do a double back flip going around 50 mph.

In Dallas I went to a concert with my cousin. We saw LoveHateHero and A Skylit Drive play. It was straight up awesome. I don't think it'll be better than the Paramore and Jimmy Eat World concert I'm going to on April 16th.
