Re: Embryonic Stem Cell Research

Senator Ernie Chambers
Room 1107, State Capitol
Lincoln, NE 68509

Dear Senator Ernie Chambers,

I am writing to you concerning Embryonic Stem Cell Research.

I believe that testing on embryonic stem cells is wrong and should be made illegal.

I believe that testing on Embryonic Stem Cells is morally wrong. It is taking the life of another potential human being and performing random tests on them. It is not fair to the lives we are taking, which could have made an impact on society. One of the Stem Cells that are being experimented on could have become some one who could have made a large impact on society and could have solved one of the many problems we are trying to solve using Embryonic Stem Cells.

I know that a lot of the research is to solve things like cancer, which affect a large population of Americans either directly or indirectly. I do not think that it is right to take the life of one person even if it does help millions. I think that we should instead be researching other ways to solve cancer, and if we wouldn't do any of the tests on ourselves I do not think we should do them on any living thing that could potentially turn into a human being.

I believe that you should ban Embryonic Stem Cell Research and instead resort to a more humane way to experiment.

Sincerely yours,
